A PERSONAL STORY

Some might mistakenly call it a midlife crisis; others – a call to the wild. But, when at the age of 50, Palle Bo strapped his microphone and a few essentials to his back, headed straight for the airport and jumped on the next flight out of Denmark, he knew it was a midlife calling.

You see, having spent 36 years in radio, Palle realised that only his voice had reached the farthest corners of the globe. So, he sold his car, home, and furniture and said goodbye to his routined existence. He knew it was a ‘now or never’ moment: he had to head out into the world and take a big gulp out of the jug of life. “Bottom’s up”, he thought to himself as the plane took off.

When he landed in Tallin, Estonia, Palle was a different man. Somewhere over the Baltic Sea, he decided to become a digital nomad – in other words, he started living.

Since then, this dapper Danish vagabond and his microphone have travelled to 97 UN Nations and a handful of other countries, documenting his extraordinary experiences for the benefit of his loyal listeners.

AWARD WINNING RADIO PRODUCER

Palle Bo's passion for radio and creating great audio started all the way back in 1985. It was a passion back then and is still a passion now. Having worked with radio and podcasting professionally for that many years has gained him a reputation of one of the best.

MARKETING BACKGROUND

Palle's background is advertising. First as a graphic designer and then as one of the leading experts in Europe on radio advertising.

RADIOGURU

In 2007, he founded the production company, RadioGuru, and from 2010-2015 he won awards for "Best Radio Commercial of the Year" six times in Denmark and has even been a finalist at the Cannes Lions for best radio commercial.

He's done lectures and workshops on the topic at conferences in 20+ countries around the world and the author of a book on how to write and produce better radio spots.

DIGITAL NOMAD

Today he runs RadioGuru as a digital nomad, and for years he's producing podcasts for companies like Ramboll and The LEGO Group.

He's also the co-host and producer of the official TBEX podcast, Travel Matters.

WHY LISTEN TO A 50+ YEAR-OLD TRAVELLER?

Palle Bo is one of the most unique travel podcasters on the planet, here's why:

EXPERIENCED

Thanks to his 36 years of specialised experience in radio, the award-winning production quality is second to none on The Radio Vagabond podcast.

CULTURAL

He is socially/ecologically conscious, meaning that his content is rife with important messaging as he illuminates the truth and sheds light on different cultures and ways of life.

UNTAPPED DEMO

He reaches an untapped demographic of over 40s who have grown up listening to the radio and thus prefer podcast listening over other digital content mediums.

PERSONAL

He invites his listeners into his personal growth story as he is moulded by the experiences he lives and the people he meets.

GOOD WITH PEOPLE

He is an expert in talking to people and getting them to relax and open up. That makes his interviews and casual chats not only entertaining but also meaningful and informative.

INSPIRATIONAL

He elicits a deep sense of wonder and exploration in people who dream about 'pulling a Palle' – ditching their ordinary existence in favour of travelling the world and living their best lives.
